

Moving and customs

Your household effects will not be taxed as long as you own them for more than a year. However there might be some personal items you are not allowed to bring. You will have to check with customs what you can and cannot bring overseas.